

American War Nurses Decorated With Florence Nightingale Medal

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(Special and editorial dispatch to the staff and condensed in part and part.)

The American Red Cross has been notified that the honor has been bestowed by the International Committee of the Red Cross Geneva, upon six American nurses whose work during the war has been most commendable. This medal annually honors the best of the six women that honored themselves by their nursing work during the war.

The medal was given to six nurses of various nations at this time, and it is the first time that the American nurses are so honored.

Mrs. M. Russell of Houston, Tex., who was appointed first representative of the American Red Cross Nursing Service in France in July, 1917, is the first American nurse to receive this honor.

Mrs. Helen Scott Hay of Houston, Tex., who was appointed first representative of the American Red Cross Nursing Service in France in July, 1917, is the first American nurse to receive this honor.

Mrs. Mary Gladwin of Houston, Tex., who was appointed first representative of the American Red Cross Nursing Service in France in July, 1917, is the first American nurse to receive this honor.

Mrs. Martha M. Russell of Houston, Tex., who was appointed first representative of the American Red Cross Nursing Service in France in July, 1917, is the first American nurse to receive this honor.

Mrs. Linda K. Meirs of Houston, Tex., who was appointed first representative of the American Red Cross Nursing Service in France in July, 1917, is the first American nurse to receive this honor.

Mrs. Alma E. Koester of Houston, Tex., who was appointed first representative of the American Red Cross Nursing Service in France in July, 1917, is the first American nurse to receive this honor.

The Charms of Music

And the night shall be filled with music. And every heart shall be lifted. Shall feel their souls lifted. And forever sing away. -Lombard.

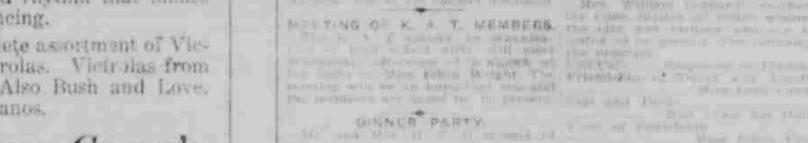

Is there anything on earth that can bring as much real pleasure as music—real music, played by musicians who are past masters of the art?

Artists who play and sing for the Victor have the power to hold you, from the first note until the last note has died away. These artists are exclusive Victor artists; because the Victrola with Victor records, reproduce their art, as no other instrument can.

And dance records—Music with all the dash and sparkle and rhythm that makes dance music so entrancing.

We keep a complete assortment of Victor Records and Victrolas. Victrolas from $25.00 to $150.00. Also Bush and Love, Packard and Bond Pianos.
